OUTLINES.

There appears no settlement of the railway passenger rate entanglement in North Carolina; Assistant Attorney General Sanford, of the Department of Justice, who came to the State to try to effect an arrangement by which the conflict would cease, returned to Washington yesterday from Asheville and will make report to his superiors; Governor Glenn at Raleigh stands pat, meanwhile other indictments are being returned against the Southern Railway and its agents in different parts of the State for violation of the act; a party of Southern Railway officials left Asheville last night on a special train for Raleigh, but Governor Glenn says the purpose of their coming is to him unknown; the railroads state their position and show why it would be unjust to them to submit to the reduced rate pending the determination of the case. ——New York is alarmed by a series of bestial attacks upon young girls in the metropolis; Police Commissioner Bingham freely admits that the department is unable to cope with the situation; instances are citew where these attacks have occurred with unthinkable brutality——Governor Glenn Thursday night placed the Raleigh militiary on notice that they might be called upon to protect the county jail, it having reached his ears that some engineers had made threats to take Dr. Rowland out of prison and do him violence. ——Argument was concluded in the Haywood case at Boise, Idaho, yesterday, Senator Borah making possibly the most eloquent plea ever heard before a jury in that State, calling upon the jurors to do their duty to civilization and to Christianity, the case will be concluded with Judge Wood's charge ths morning and a verdict may come at any time after that; the court room and grounds yesterday were thronged with people to listen to the newly-elected Snator's strong appal for conviction. ——The Inter-State Commerce Commission yesterday rendered two important decisions involving the L. & N. and Georgia Central Railroads. ——New York markets: Money on call, steady, 2 to 2 1-2; ruling rate, 2 1-4; closing bid, 2; offered at 2 1-4; spot cotton, quiet, 7 points lower; middling Uplands, 13 cents; flour more active and easier for Spring brands; wheat, steady; No. 2, 97 1-2 elevator; oats, spot steady; corn, easy; No. 2, 61; turpentine, quiet, 58 to 58 1-2; rosin, firm; strained, common to good, $4.55 to $4.65.

They must be using the "Excelsior" brand of thermometer in Florence and Goldsboro.

That five-minute schedule of the street cars must be governed by a stop watch.

If the railroads are so wrought up by the reduction in passenger rates how will it be when the war on freight rates begins?

It really seems hard for Mr. Bryan to keep ahead of Mr. Roosevelt on the question of government ownership of railroads. Now, if the President should come out for the initiative and referendum the eloquent Nebraskan would go dead broke.

This is "tollable" straight talk from the Charlotte Observer: "We say that Judge Pritchard had utterly insufficient grounds for enjoining this sovereign State on the passenger fare issue; we say that he had no grounds whatever for enjoining as to freight rates and that the railroad companies showed almost inconceivable brazenness in ever asking him to do so."

If it can be established that the death of Engineer Strange was the result of a conspiracy between his wife and her paramour, Dr. Rowland, it will forever stand as one of the most atrocious crimes ever committed in North Carolina. The evidence introduced at the hearing in habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Connor was of a very damaging character and fully justified his refusal to admit the prisoners to bail.

Our Brunswick friends are to be congratulated on the proposed railroad. Heretofore, under the energetic supervision the indomitable Dougherty and other, several shovelfuls of dirt have been thrown; but, cheap as that article is, the supply was soon exhausted. Now, however, even spikes and cross-ties are in sight, and the known energy of those directing the new enterprise, is a guarantee that there will be "something doing."

Because of their prominence in politics it is quite likely that a majority of the political prophets think the fight for the Governorship will be between Kitchin and Craig. But the strength developed in the central and eastern counties by Ashley Horne indicates that the race on the home-stretch will be between him and Kitchin. Beyond all question, Kitchin is a strong candidate, but Horne has a notable following among the farmers and business men.

THREAT TO LYNCH?

Governor Ordered Raleigh Militiary to Be in Readiness in Case of Emergency.

IN THE ROWLAND CASE

Railway Rate Matters Still Occupy Centre of Stage at State Capital. Other News Notes from State Capital.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 26.—While practically no one outside official circles knew it, the Raleigh military companies were under notice last night to be ready to respond to an emergency call for the protection of the county jail. It had come to Governor Glenn's ears, that there might be an effort to take Dr. D. S. Rowland, charged with poisoning Charles R. Strange, and do him violence. Threats by engineers were overheard by some State house servant who hastened to the Governor with the report. Captain Moody of Company B, was called before the Governor and asked to have his men ready to protect the jail.

The engineers were indignant today when they found any credence had been given to such a report, declaring that they are law-abiding citizens and had not dreamed of such a thing. They say they intend to continue the fight against Rowland in a legal way, feeling sure he will receive merited punishment if proven guilty of poisoning their brother engineer.

Raleigh, N. C., July 26.—The Seaboard Air Line announces that effective August 1st, parlor car service on the Charlotte and Wilmington train, Nos. 39 and 40, will be discontinued, on account of unprofitable business which is claimed as one of the effects of the application of the new rate law.

Governor Glenn spent several hours in the State Supreme Court law library this morning pouring over phases of the law bearing on the sensational railroad rate litigation and the inpending conflict between the State and the Federal authorities involving "States' Rights." He said he was just looking for himself into certain matters that might "bob up" in the further prosecution of the struggle. Asked if he had heard anything from the railroad as to whether his ultimatum would be accepted, he replied that he had not and really did not expect to. He considers the possibility of their acceptance remote and in the event there was any inclination that way the first intimation of it would in the shape of a request for a conference. The Governor is still of the opinion that in the event the resistance on the part of the railroads to the new rate is continued, he will be obliged to call the Legislature together to straighten matters out. The Governor has not said so but the talk about the city is that the Legislautre would probably put it up to the railroads to observe the law until it is declared unconstitutional or have their charters repeaaled. This would especially apply to the North Carolina and the Western North Carolina divisions of the Southern. It is understood that there have already been intimations that in the event this was done the Norfolk & Southern, which is observing the law would be willing to take over the North Carolina road on terms more advantageous to the State than the present lease to the Southern.

State Auditor B. F. Dixon will deliver an address at Laurinburg next Wednesday night on the question of local tax for the establishment of graded schools. This is one of the few towns in the State that has not already instituted such a system of schools.

A charter is issued for the State Bank of Laurinburg, capital $50,000 J. F. McNair, J. A. Jones and others incorporators.

Another charter is for the Buffaloe Ice and Coal Co., of Sanford, capital $100,000 B. E. McIver, J. L. Chisolm and others, the company to develop coal mines among other things.

Z. P. Smith is commissioned first lieutenant of Comapny B, Third Regiment Raleigh to succeed T. C. Lanier, deceased.

Mr. W. A. Barwick, of the State Department of Education, had a narnow escape from death last night while out driving with T. B. Moseley, of this city, on Hillsboro street. The horse was frightened at a street car and ran close in front of it so that the car smashed the vehicle and threw Barwick and Moseley out, Barwick wick falling close by the car track and almost under the wheels. His hip was badly bruised but no bones were broken. It is not known whether the injuries were from the fall or from being struck by the running gear of the car.

The work of adding three and a half miles of track to the Raleigh street car system will begin within the next few days and be pushed to completion.

THE GRAND JURY THROUGH

Formal Report Made in Superior Court Yesterday Afternoon—County Institutions Mainly in Good Order—Suggestion.

The grand jury at the term of New Hanover Superior Court adjourned early yesterday afternoon, completed its work during the morning session, came before His Honor, Judge J. Crawford Biggs, presiding and were discharged with thanks for faithful and efficient work. . The report is featured by recommendations that the Castle Haynes road crossing over the Atlantic Coast Line tracks be repaired and that cars be left no nearer than twenty feet of the crossing so that all approaching trains may be seen by travellers by private conveyance, and that Seventeenth street, which is occupied by the Consolidated Company with its surburban line tracks be widened to eliminate danger to travel. The report in full is as follows:

Report of Grand Jury of New Hanover county; State of North Carolina, for the term of July, 1907.

To His Honor, Judge J. Crawford Biggs:

We, the Grand Jury for the July term, 1907, beg to report that we have returned 60 true bills, as follows:

Larceny, 13; resisting an officer, 2; gambling, 4; arson, 1; abandonment, 1; assault with a deadly weapon, 14; concealed weapon, 10; murder, 3; obstructing highway, 2; willful destruction of property, 1; keeping disorderly house, 2.

Two not true bills and made three presentments.

County Jail—We have examined the county jail and found same in good repair and well kept. Food sufficient and well cooked.

Convict camp—We visited the camp found everything in good condition. Prisoners well treated, food sufficient and well cooked.

County Home—We visited the county home and found everything in good repair, except a few boards in the porches which need repairing. We did not find quarters for female colored prisoners as clean as they should be and recommend that at least two women prisoners be assigned to keeping these quarters clean and the bed clothes washed. We also find these quarters too small, there being about twenty-eight women confined in two rooms twelve by fourteen (12x14) and the ventilation insufficient. We recommend that these quarters be made larger immediately.

We recommend that one female white insane inmate Minnie Cummings, be sent to the State hospital for insane immediately, she being confined in a small room eight by ten (8x10) poorly ventilated. We are informed that she has been confined for more than two years.

We have inspected the Court House and find same not kept as clean as should be. We found considerable water on the floor of the northeast room in basement, which should be removed immediately.

We recommend that the building be given a general cleaning and kept so. We are of the opinion that the keeping of this building and yard is too much for one man, the janitor, and recommend that he be given sufficient help.

We have been informed that prisoners are allowed to stand at the windows in the jail half naked in view of ladies passing and recommend that this be stopped.

We recommend that the county road crossing known as Shepard's Crossing, at Western end of "Y" be repaired and be put in good condition, and that cars be not left nearer than twenty feet, leaving an opening of at least fifty feet between cars, to enable people with vehicles to see approaching trains. Also recommend that a gate be put at this crossing.

We also recommend that 17th street intersection of Market street be widened, as the Conslidated Railway Company consumes the majority of this street.

Police Court Yesterday.

Mayor Pro Tem O'Brien presided in the police court yesterday in the absence of Mayor Springer who is attending the Methodist Conference at Whiteville. There were only two cases. Hammond Tietgen was told to go his way and drink no more. He lives on the sound and was told to go home at once, which he said he would do. Hattie Jones, colored, went to the county farm for 30 days, the charge against her being drunk and disorderly. She was arrested at Fourth and Nixon by Officer J. B. Hall.

WORK IS COMPLETED

Two Weeks Term of New Hanover Superior Court Came to End Yesterday.

THE DOCKET IS FINISHED

Negroes Charged With Murder Submit to Manslaughter and Received.. Terms on Roads—Number of Cases Continued.

The docket for the two weeks term of New Hanover Superior Court which convened last Monday was cleared yesterday afternoon and adjournment was taken sine die. Judge J. Crawford Biggs, who presided at the term for his first term in this city, and Solicitor Rodolph Duffy went to work with a will at the beginning and no time was lost, every case having been disposed of in which both sides were ready for trial. The adjournment for the term came at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and there will be no second week of the term. It is presumed that jurors summoned for next Monday morning will not be required to attend. All told for the term there were 104 cases on the docket and these were disposed of with remarkable dispatch.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's session was the return by the grand jury of a true bill in the case in which Contractor Thos. N. Simmons was charged with an assault in which serious injury was done to Architect H. E. Bonitz, the preliminary trial having taken place the day before in Justice Bornemann's court. E. M. Koonce, Esq., counsel for Mr. Simmons stated that the case had just come over from the magistrate and he would ask the court for a continuance. Solicitor Rodolph Duffy stated that he saw no reason why the case should not be tried at once, however, he would not press the defendant into trial unprepared. A. J. Marshall, Esq., counsel for the prosecution, was asked by Judge Biggs if the case was of sufficient importance to continue the term over to another day. Mr. Marshall replied that it was not and an order for continuance was entered. The appeal on the peace warrant was also continued, Judge Biggs requiring the defendant to give the same bond of $100 in each case.

The other case against Mr. Simmons in which he was charged with an assault on young M. H. Bryan was also continued until next term. Mr. P. O. Hall, a witness in the case, was called and failed, whereupon a fine of $80 was imposed, order to issue to Mr. Hall to show cause why the fine should not be paid at the next term. In the same case, the grand jury returned a true bill against young Bryan charging him with carrying a concealed weapon.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon returned a true bill against Mary McDaniel, the colored woman arrested some weeks ago at the instance of Assistant State Fire Insurance Commissioner W. A. Scott, charged with applying the torch which destroyed a number of houses in the southern part of the city some months ago on a Sunday morning. B. G. Empie, Esq., counsel for the defendant in the action, stated that he did not understand that a bill would be sent in for arson, which is a capital felony; that he thought the bill would charge only attempted arson. In that view of the case he said that he would ask for a continuance. Hon. John D. Bellamy appeared as counsel for the State Insurance Department and it was finally decided to let the case go over to the next term and the defendant was remanded to jail, without bond.

The two murder cases against Herbert Moyes, charged with shooting another negro at Almont factory, and Robert Mills, alias Walker, charged with stabbing another colored youth to death on Nixon street, were disposed of by the defendants' submitting to manslaughter. They were represented by Geo. L. Peschau and Marsden Bellamy, Jr., Esqs. Enough evidence was heard to guide the judge in passing sentence, Mills having been given seven years and Moyes two years.

Abraham Watson and Albert Howe were charged with assault with a deadly weapon, the two having previously been tried in the Mayor's Court. Watson was found guilty of simple assault, and his previous conviction in the police court availed him his discharge. Howe was found guilty and was sentenced to four months on the roads. Alex Holmes, a third defendant, has not been taken.

The grand jury returned a true bill for murder against Joseph Henry, colored, charged with the killing of Maxcy Groom in the northern part of the city some time ago. The coroner's jury had previously discharged Henry on the grounds of accidental shooting. He has not been re-arrested.

Fred Hennegan, alias Smith, the negro who stole fittings off the steam tug Grayling, was given four months on the roads.

The grand jury returned a true bill against the Consolidated Company for obstructing the streets. It is presumed that the violation consists of the maintenance of a ticket office in he street at Front and Princess streets. The case will not come to trial before the next term.

WITH THE BOYS IN KHAKI

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Camp Brunswick, Southport, N. C., July 25.—General orders for July 25th, 1907: Officer of the day, First Lieutenant, W. R. Dosher; Sergeant of the guard, J. W. Orrell; Corporal of the guard, H. O. Thomas; guard detail, H. A. Kure, Fleet Williams, A. E. Elmer, and H. K. King.

One more pleasant day has been spent in camp and there have been no answers to the sick call as yet. Today there was an interesting game of baseball between the Chicken Rattlers, captained by "Napoleon Lajoi" Tilly, and the Flounders, captained by "Hans Wagner" Davis. At the end of the exciting contest the score stood 6 to 7 in favor of the 'Biddies." "Napoleon" and "Cranston" Brown did the battery honors for the first mentioned team, while "Wagner and "Laman" McAllister did the stunt for the "Minnows." Time: Two phases of the moon and one revolution of a cart wheel.

You people in town think that was a "bona fide" eclipse of the moon last night. Wrong! It was due to the fact that "Shorty" Dixon stood on a cracker box for the purpose of brushing the cobwebs off the lesser luminary, and thus poked his head between the "Old Sol" and "the white orbed maiden."

"Camel Togo" R-r-r-rouark has got to use cotton batting before he comes in camp again! He's hollow to his toes. "Harry Lehr" LeRoy Register made his debut in Southport society last night; he's a winner. "Ikey" Orrell is so galubriously lazy that he won't even sit in a boat and fish. Somebody evidently thought that "Herodcal" Register had the neuralgia today; while taking a little nap, he was treated to a plaster composed of several nondescript unsavory ingredients. We think he is able to sit up and take notice now.

Yesterday we were presented a fine crate of Spring chicken by our friend, Mr. R. V. Leonard. Many thanks, Mr. Leonard; We're your friends for life. B. F. K., Jr.

GUN CLUB SHOOT YESTERDAY.

The Wilmington Gun Club held another very successful shoot on the traps near Delgado yesterday afternoon nineteen men having entered for the regular events and for the Murchison trophy. Stokley was high average in the regular event, breaking 93 out of 100. Merriman from the 20-yard line, using Peters shells, broke 56 out of 75. Colored Child Badly Bitten.

It was learned yesterday that the child so severely bitten by a dog belonging to Mr. S. J. Davis, at Seventeenth and Market streets, Thursday afternoon, was one of twins belonging to a colored family in the neighborhood. From all accounts the dog ran into the house and attacked the child as it was playing on the floor, one side of its face being torn off and a great hole having been made by the tusks of the hound in the child's head. Mr. Davis regretted the occurrence very much and told the family that he would do everything possible to provide the best of medical attention for the baby and Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy is attending the patient, who will not be out of danger for a day or two yet. Mounted officer C. G. Jones responded to a call from the house and after a long chase succeeded in killing one of the dogs. Another of them was killed by Mr. William Sheehan. Mr. Davis is having an enclosure built for the hounds in the outskirts of the city.

Funeral of Mrs. Lillie J. Harris.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Lillie J. Harris was conducted at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence, No. 410 South Fourth street, Rev. Kenneth D. Holmes, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church, officiating. A large number of friends were in attendance and many beautiful floral tributes were laid on the casket. The pall-bearers were as follows: Dr. Joseph Hanby, Messrs. Charles F. Bell, J. T. Riley, James Holton, John Sheehan and E. D. Warren.

IT GOES MERRILY ON

No Further Developments Yesterday in Railway Rate Entanglement in This State.

SANFORD HAS RETURNED

Goes Back to Washington to Make Report—Southern Officials to Raleigh—Other Indictments Being Returned Against Agents.

(By Associated Press.)

Asheville, N. C., July 26.—The return of Assistant Attorney General Sanford from his futile conference with Governor Glen at Raleigh, a succession of conferences between the officials of the Southern Railway, their counsel and counsel for the State, the indictment of the Southern ticket agents at Marion and Old Point and the hurried departure of Mr. Sanford from this city, presumably for Washington, were the features of the railroad rate fight situation tonight.

Specials from Marion this afternoon confirmed the report that the ticket agents of the Southern Railway at Old Fort and Marion had been indicted by the grand jury for violation of the new rate law, but up to a late hour it was stated that they had not been arrested. Judge Lyon, who instructed the grand jury of McDowell county to indict the agents, will open the Superior Court term here next Monday, and it is reported on good authority that he will instruct the Buncombe county grand jury to the same effect.

In the event that the Marion and Old Fort ticket agents are arrested, they will be brought here in habeas corpus proceedings before Judge Pritchard. From an authoritative source it was learned tonight that the course of procedure will be the same as in the cases of Ticket Agents Wood and Graham, of this city.

When Judge Pritchard was asked tonight if any application had been made to him for an habeas corpus writ for the Marion and Old Fort agents he stated that none had been made. The judge said that he had heard that presentments had been made at Marion, but had received no notification, nor had any mention been made of a writ of habeas corpus.

A. B. Andrews, second vice president of the Southern; H. B. Spencer, fifth vice president, and H. H. Humphreys, general counsel, left here at 9:45 tonight on a special train for Raleigh. None of the party would make any statement in connection with their departure.

Officials of the Southern Railway here contend that the Governor's demand that they should put the 2 1-4-cent rate into effect at once involves the company's surrender and the surrender by the United Stats Court of the protection of the interlocutory injunction, which means that the Governor of a State can control or limit the processes of a United States Court, and that the Governor can dictate to litigants in the United States Court the measure of relief which they have the right to apply for, which means a limitation by order of the Governor of their constitutional rights.

It is pointed out by the officials of the road that if they put into effect the rate and win the case the difference betwen the old rate and the new rate during the pendency of the case is a dead loss, and the State has no more right to take away this part of their property than any other part of their property. Under the present arrangement of giving a coupon, if they lose the case, the public is entirely protected, getting the advantage of the lower rate through the cashing of the coupon.

Assistant United States Attorney General Sanford conferred today with railroad officials, and with Judge Pritchard and left here late this afternoon. He will report to Washington that his visit to the State capital, in an effort to restore peace, was fruitless.

Several Superior Court judges have ignored the subject of a conflict between Federal and State courts and Judge Fred Moore advised against further indictments of ticket agents, but Judge Lyon, at Marion, expressed himself in the strongest possible terms. He declared that the ticket agents were violating a criminal statute and should be indicted, "like a pig or a horse thief."

In Statu Quo at Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., July 26.—Governor Glenn has had no reply to his counter proposal for a settlement of the present phase of the railway rate litigation, sent to Solicitor Mark Brown, at Asheville, to present to the Southern Railway and Federal Court, and the condition is at a standstill here, awaiting a reply. Governor Glenn insists that first of all, the railroads put into effect the 2 1-4 cent rate and that in their suits they recognize the State courts, otherwise he will call together the Legislature to control the railroads which are defying the State laws.

More Indictments.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 26.—In the Superior Court today the grand jury returned a true bill against the Southern Railway and W. G. Halley, agent of the railroad at Rural Hall. The witness before the grand jury was County Treasurer Beck, who bought a ticket from Rural Hall to Winston-Salem, paying the old price. It is not

THE MISCHIEVOUS LIAR.

There is no accounting for the mischief that may be done by a malicious liar. There was a striking illustration of this day before yesterday at Salisbury. The Wachovia Loan & Trust Company, of Winston-Salem, is known of all men as one of the strongest banking institutions in the State. It has a branch at Salisbury of which Senator Lee S. Overman is president. It has other branches all over the State. There came a whisper around Salisbury that a run had been started on the High Point bank and that the Salisbury branch of the Wachovia institution was shaky. There are strong, conservative men in charge of banking affairs in Salisbury and instead of entering blanket denials and heaping maledictions upon the liar who started the report, the management adopted the better policy of handling the situation by paying, without suggestion or denial every man who presented himself at the window of the paying teller. The report traveled like wildfire and, of course, the uneasiness of depositors was quickly manifest; there was a full-fledged run on the bank, but every man who came received his money forthwith as silent testimony of the solvency of the institution. This calm, deliberate management of an unfortunate occurrence worked like magic and it was but a few hours before the panic-stricken depositors were back with their accounts, while new ones, admiring the pluck and enterprise of the Wachovia people, came with other deposits and the day's business about balanced at the hour for closing. It would strike the ordinary individual as the wisest policy, as evidenced by the Salisbury incident, in emergencies of the kind, to say little and "do business" at the paying teller's window. Of course, no punishment would be too extreme for the mischievous liar who started the false report as to the solvency of the bank, but time lost in running the rascal to earth was much better spent in preparing to meet the oncoming stream of panicky depositors.

NEW YORK CITY'S DEBT.

It is well known that New York is a big city but we doubt if there are many persons outside that city who will not be surprised to learn that its bonded debt is not less than $500,000,000. In this connection the following from the Broadway Magazine will be found interesting:

"The total bonded debt of the United States is only $925,000,000 and that of New York city is already more than half that of the national government. At the present rate of increase, the metropolis will have the larger indebtedness in five years.

The total debts of all the states in the Union amount only to $234,314,190, less than half that of the single city of New York. The total state, county and city indebtedness of the entire United States is less than three times that of the city of millionaires.

"The per capita debt of the citizen world are much concerned over China and her debt, and yet China has borrowed only $613,000,000, against $500,000,000 for New York. The entire Dominion of Canada owes only $271,000,000, about equal to New York's increase in four years.

"The per capita debt of the citizer of New York is $145.45, against $43.45 for those of the other large cities. Boston with $116 and Cincinnati with $114 come the nearer to approaching New York's record, while Chicago and San Francisco, owing only $12 per capita each, make the best showing."

REDUCE PASSENGER SERVICE.

Regardless of the merits of the reduced passenger fare rate law on North Carolina railroads, there is no doubt that its effect is going to cut both ways. The Seaboard Air Line is the only line of importance in the State to adopt the new passenger rate, and we already have it from the Charlotte News that Maj. C. H. Gattis, traveling passenger agent of the system, has announced that either tomorrow or next Sunday the trains now running between Charlotte and Rutherfordton will be taken off on the ground that they do not pay cost of operating. This is coupled with the furter statement that the discontinuance does not apply to the sections of these trains between Wilmington and Charlotte, "but these will likely be taken off, also, at a later date." Maj. Gattis says these trains have not been paying expenses on account of a lack of patronage.

Mr. Gattis also stated, according to the News, that the parlor car running to Wilmington would be taken off at an early date unless it was better patronized. It was put on for the accommoderation of traffic to the seashore, but has proved to bring in an insufficient revenue to justify its continuance.

The ravages of the "white plague" in France have reached most alarming proportions, official reports showing that in that country 150,000 persons die from tuberculosis each year; among workmen the mortality from this cause amounting to over 30 per cent., says a writer in Harper's Weekly. Bakers and laundry workers seem most prone to this disease, it being stated that of the 40,000 bakers in Paris 24,000 suffer therefrom, while of the laundryworkers 75 per cent. are afflicted.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It is to be neglected as an immediate issue, but is to be kept in the air. Nevertheless, the railroad question is Mr. Bryan's chosen issue. Not a word of the tariff.—N. Y. Times (Ind.)

—The demand for an employers' liability law has been turned down in Legislature after Legislature. But it should be borne in mind that the whole question is not one of employers liability, but of industrial liability. In the last analyss all increased cost of production comes back to the consumer, and if the cost of production be increased through the passage of employers' liability laws, the consumer will pay it, and righteously, too, in this instance.—Detroit Free Press (Dem.)

—There are two ways of staving off tariff reform in the United States. One is Senator Foraker's way, which is to declare frankly that he does not believe the tariff ought to be touched, and that people who support him must do so with the understanding that he will oppose any tariff legislation. The other way is that of those Republicans who say that they are in favor of tariff revision after the next presidential election, or at some other time which they generally fail to specify. On the whole, we think the Ohio Senator's way the better one. It has, at least, the merit of honesty.—Hartford Times (Dem.)

—"Missouri has recently passed a law authorizing farmers to make a trade mark of the name of their farms. This is a good law, and it embodies a good idea. If a farmer is successful in raising a special kind of fruit or grain or crop of any sort it will be worth something to him to have the name of his farm registered and serve as a permanent advertisement of his products. There is no reason why such a trade mark should not be as valuable to the farmer or fruit grower or market gardener or dairy farmer as his trade mark is to manufacturer or merchant. It is the custom in the Old World to name estates, and in Scandinavian countries the name of the family. The value of the custom of naming farms and estates has been shown in many cases where certain products, as wines, have become famous under such names. The example of Missouri is one that might be well followed throughout the country.—Columbia State (Dem.)

—Greensboro, July 25: While it is not generally known the western district of North Carolina has one of the few—perhaps the only—lady deputy marshals in the United States. There is nothing to prevent a marshal appointing a woman, but it is not generally, considered desirable for one. The woman who holds that position in this district, is Miss Nessie Myrick, a niece of Marshal Millkan. Miss Myrick went to Salisbury yesterday afternoon to serve a restraining order upon Mr. Hayden Clement, assistant Attorney General for the State of North Carolina. The order is one of the many processes that have been issued since the beginning of the litigation relative to the enforcement of the State's new rate law. Miss Myrick recently served the papers in Reidsville in the case of Jas P. Richardson & Co., against the American Tobacco Company.

—Lumberton Robesonian: "The shareholders of St. Paul's Cotton Mill, which has just been corporated, met in the town of St. Paul's Wednesday, July 24th, for the purpose of perfecting organization by the election of officers. Mr. Geo. B. McLeod was requested to preside over the meeting. The following board of directors was elected: Jas. Robeson, W. D. McNeill, L. A. McGeachy, T. L. Northrop, A. R.. McEachern, L. Shaw, J. M. Butler, C. J. Cooper, J. F. L. Armfield, E. J. Johnson, J. F. Gilmore, J. W. Carter, J. W. Kaneer, and Geo. B. McLeod. At a subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were elected: L. Shaw, president; J. M. Butler, vice president; A. R. McEachern, secretary and treasurer. The amount of stock to be subscribed was limited to $110,000, more than $100,000 of which has already been subscribed. Work on the mill will be begun as soon as material can be placed on the grounds. When completed the mill will make knitting yarns."

NOTRE DAME OF REIMS.

No Cathedral In France Its Equal In Wealth or Ornament.

The place where it (Reims cathedral) stands is far too closely shut in by small and insignificant houses. But the strongest light, the meanest surroundings, could not lessen the marvel of so marvelous a church, and magnificent is the word that occurs to one on the threshold, as to Arthur Young on the distant hilltop. There is no cathedral in France that can equal it in wealth, in extravagance, in gorgeousness of ornament. The facade of Notre Dame of Paris, while something like it in general design, is of Puritan simplicity beside the facade of Notre Dame of Reims. No other west doors are more deeply recessed, more richly charged with sculpture, row upon row, tier upon tier, some statues being as unexpectedly Greek in character as others are Gothic. No other sculptures are on so large and imposing a scale. No other gables over the doors soar upward in such high, acute angles. No other show such an entanglement of figures and traceries. And the great, tall windows above and the rose between are so beset with ornament that hardly an inch of bare stone remains about them. In the gallery of kings the statues stand under carven canopies, intricate, delicate, lacelike in their elaboration. The tall central gable, fretted and flamboyant, reaches up still higher, and on each side of it the towers, with the long lines of their arches and windows, seem bent on carrying the glory of it all to the very heights of heaven.

Nor were architect and sculptor less lavish when they turned from the west front. Everywhere it is the same. The buttresses stand firm, a mass of arcades, niches sheltering wide winged angels and tall pinnacles, or they go flying across aisles in as light, graceful and ornate a flight as if beauty were its only object. They are the most beautiful buttresses in France, Fergusson says; the grandest pinnacles, Mr. Moore declares, and both are right. The transepts are only new spaces for new ornament; the apse is only a new motive for the new arrangement of buttresses and pinnacles. The gargoyles somehow seem more monstrous than those that look down from other cathedral walls, and around the top of the apse, perched on a high balustrade, are grotesques—owls, mermaids, griffins, unicorns—strange beings that come of the same family as the devils of Notre Dame in Paris, only the grotesques of Reims are where they can be seen from below, where they serve in the decorative scheme, breaking the horizontal lines of the balustrade with the effect of still another row of pinnacles. I have wandered for days about the cathedral without coming to the end of its inexhaustible detail. It is almost incredible that one church could be so covered with ornament, that its walls could bear upon their surface such a rhythmical confusion of sculptured stone.—Elizabeth Robins Pennell in Century.

Practical Patriotism.

In the early part of the war between the states, when patriotic merchants and manufacturers were sending their clerks and workmen to the field, with a promise to provide for the wants of their families, as well as to continue their salaries during their absence, a very enthusiastic landlady of New York offered to allow her boarders' bills to run on as usual should any of them desire to go for the defense of the nation.

A Fallacy.

"A woman has no sense of humor," remarked the acrid man.

"That is a fallacy," answered his wife, "that has arisen from the fact that most of them are not so stupid as to laugh at their husbands' efforts to be clever."—Washington Star.

Nothing Mean There.

"I say, Uncle Jack, I dreamed you gave me half a crown last night."

"Did you, me boy? Well, you can keep it."—London Tatler.

The wise man should be prepared for everything that does not lie within his control.—Pythagoras.

A Wonderful Happening.

Port Byron, N. Y., has witnessed one of the most remarkable cases of healing ever recorded. Amos F. King, of that place says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured a sore on my leg with which I had suffered over 80 years. I am now eighty five." Guaranteed to cure all sores, by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist, 25c.

Quick Service to Beach.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected at the mid-week dance tonight at Lumina. In order that there shall be no crowding the Consolidated Company announces that three-car trains will be operated all this afternoon and will run express trains in addition to local trains from 7:30 to 10:30 P. M. On Saturday nights heretofore, the company has been operating these express trains only on the 8 and 8:30 trains, but tonight the fast trains with no stops will be run for a much longer period.

Case Against Dr. Moore Nol Prossed.

The case against Dr. "Bill" Moore, charged with false pretense in prescribing for a man with a goitre on his neck and failing to cure the same, was nol prossed by the solicitor in the Superior Court yesterday. There were technical reasons for this and Dr. "Bill" as the lawyers say, "goes without day."

ENGINEERS ARE CONFERRING.

Col. J. L. Ludlow and Mr. Hazen, of New York, Are Here.

Col. J. L. Ludlow, of Winston-Salem, who is representing the city in the negotiations for the purchase of the Clarendon water works plant, returned to the city this week and has been joined by Mr. Allen Hazen, of the eminent firm of Whipple & Hazen, water works and sanitary experts of New York city, who is representing the company in the negotiation with the city. Thursday the engineers went out to the pumping station of the company at Hilton and took a view and inventory of what they found there and later made some investigations of the pipe line in the city. They are working very harmoniously together and are being given every co-operation by the officials of the water company and by the committee representing the Board of Aldermen. As before stated the engineers are not only giving their attention to the plant but to the availability of other supplies than the river, the product of which is now being filtered by the water company.

Col. Ludlow, Mr. Hazen, Mr. T. W. Wood, chairman of the Water Committee, and Capt. R. W. Price yesterday made a visit to Silver Lake, a beautiful body of clear water fed by an underground current about five miles from the city. The party was accompanied by Capt. Wm. F. Robertson, Dr. Thomas of the State Board of Health, and others. What decision will be reached, of course, depends upon the report of the engineers after the investigations are complete.

Years ago Col. Ludlow was the city engineer of Winston-Salem and held the position at the time when there was a general grading of the streets of that city, preparatory to installing the street car system there in 1890, which was, by the way, the first trolley car system established in the United States.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Interesting Session This Week at Whiteville Concluded.

Wilmington delegates and pastors who have been attending the Wilmington District M. E. Church Conference this week at Whiteville returned yesterday afternoon and last night on the late trains. Presiding Elder W. L. Cunningim presided and the sessions are reported to have been very pleasant and profitable, showing wonderful advancement of Methodism in this section within the past year.

The opening sermon was preached Tuesday night by Rev. A. J. Parker, of Wilmington, pastor of Bladen Street M. E. Church, who had for his theme the life and work of Saint Paul. Other sermons were preached during the conference as follows:

Wednesday morning, Rev. W. H. McLaurin, Jacksonville circuit; Wednesday night, Rev. N. M. Watson, Grace Church, Wilmington; Thursday morning, Rev. S. E. Mercer, financial agent Carolina Methodist College, Maxton; Thursday night, Rev. Mr. Wooten of the chair of Biblical Literature, Trinity College, presented the work being done at Trinity College.

Settlers Doing Well.

The Carolina Trucking Development Company is now meeting with wonderful success with its settlers in this section of the State. Mr. August Eggert and family, of German descent, recently located in the Castle Haynes colony and has purchased 30 acres of land which he will devote to fruit raising. Mr. Eggert came to Wilmington and decided on locating here after having visited many places in the United States, notably California. The Polish colony of 60 or 70 persons recently located just this side of Castle Haynes are doing well and seem to be contented. Father Rykaozewsky, of Braddock, Pa., is at the head of this colony and has been spending some time here with his family, his father being among the settlers. He has 200 acres of land in his own right and his father will look after this property for him.

Interesting Railroad Rumor.

The Sampson Democrat, published at Clinton, N. C., has the following interesting railroad news in its issue this week: "Every now and then high hopes are built up in Sampson on more railroads being built in the county. A railroad through the entire length of this large, resourceful and wealthy county is what we need and we have heard pretty straight news recently to the effect that the Coast Line authorities are seriously contemplating the building of a road from Dunn by Clinton, and on to Wilmington, or to connect at some point on the coast. Certainly the products of Sampson and the business done in the county make an inviting route for a road, it would seem to us."

Honeymoon at Wrightsville.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer says: "Mr. A .M. Tolar and Miss Sallie Tolar, of Rennert, came up to the city yesterday, and at 3:30 o'clock were married in the parlor of the LaFayette Hotel. They went down to Wrightsville on the afternoon train. The marriage was performed by Rev. O. P. Meeks, of this city, and was witnessed by only a few friends including Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Willis, who came up from Rennert with them. The young couple are very popular in Robeson county, and have the best wishes of a host of friends."

expected that the case will be tried at this term of court.

Raleigh, N. C., July 26.—Governor Glenn is informed tonight by wire from Marion, McDowell county, that the Southern Railway local agent there and the Southern Railway itself have been indicted for violation of the State railroad rate law. The telegram came from Judge C. C. Lyon, and it is understood the Governor wired in reply to proceed with cases; that he would have the support of the Executive department of the State. Judge R. B. Peebles, who has been holding the special term of court in Union for the trial of the alleged Anson lynchers, was here today and told the Governor that when he opened court Monday at Morganton he would instruct grand jury that they ought to return true bills against the Southern and its agents there.

Raleigh, N. C., July 26.—Governor Glenn says he knows of no conference to be held here tomorrow with President Finley and Southern Railway officials, nor do the Southern Railway counsel here, or Colonel W. B. Rodman, chief counsel for the Southern in North Carolina, who is leaving the city for his home in Charlotte tonight.

Governor Glenn at 11:30 tonight being called from bed said that he knew nothing of the coming of the Southern officials, but that it was needless for them to see him unless they came willing to put the two and a quarter cent rate into effect immediately, that he had been diligently studying the law all day and was satisfied that his position is correct and he will make no concession that annuls the law. As to an extra session of the Legislature he believed it would benefit the pople of the State ten times more than it would cost and would give them both passenger and freight rates that could not be interfered with by the railroads except in the orderly way of first being heard in the State courts.

Going Higher Up.

Raleigh, July 26.—Governor Glenn at mid night tonight stated that he had instructed Solicitor Spanhour, at Marion, to serve no capiases in the Southern Railway indictments until Monday and that he would send counsel to assist the State. He also instructed Solicitor Spainhour to indict the high officials of the Southern Railway and not the agents.

Montgomery, Ala., July26.—Thebill to appropriate $50,000 for resisting the fights made by the railroads on the rate regulation laws of the State was passed by the House today and now goes to the governor. The Alabama situation is somewhat similar to that in North Carolina, excepting that Governor Comer is not attempting to violate any of the orders of the Federal court and is willing to let the matter be fought out in the courts.

Taking Power Contracts.

The Fayetteville Observer of yesterday afternoon says: "Representatives of the New York Electrical and Dynamo Companies are here taking contracts with the mill men and managers of other industrial plants, guaranteeing the electrical transmission of power from the Cape Fear Electric Power Company at Buckhorn Falls by the 1st of January 1908. The power of transmission here of the Cape Fear Electric Power Company in this city is receiving new appliances as well as being enlarged."

Mr. Hooper Will Accept.

Mr. James S. Hooper has been honored with appointment as the representative from North Carolina on the committee on constitution and bylaws of the association of descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The signers recently held a meeting at the Jamestown Exposition and have perfected their organization permanently and Mr. Hooper will take part in forming the rules and regulations that will govern the association.

Wilmingtonians Appointed.

Grand Chancellor C. E. Crist, of Winston-Salem, has appointed the standing committees of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, for the ensuing year. Col. Walker Taylor is returned to the committee on judiciary with M. W. Bell, Murphy, and A. A. Whitener, of Hickory; Post Chancellor Robertson is named on the committee on Uniform Rank, with Post Chancellor Barnard, of Asheville, and Wilson, of Raleigh. Capt. T. D. Meares is named on the Special Orphans Committee with G. L. Hackney, Asheville; N. W. Murphy; A. E. McCausland, Charlotte, and J. D. Pridgen, Durham. N. B. Alexander, of Fayetteville, is the committee on correspondence.

Board Struck him in Face.

Mr. H.L. Fennell, the popular insurance man, came up from the sound yesterday with a badly bruised eye and a severely mutilated nose, which had just been dressed by Dr. Burbank. His friends were unkind enough to make all sorts of inquiries of Mr. Fennell but the truth of it is that night before last, while cranking a motor boat, the crank struck a small piece of plank in the launch, throwing it violently into Mr. Fennell's face. He is a little disfigured but will suffer no serious consequences of the accident.

Baseball Games Today.

Unless all signs fail, there will be two interesting games of baseball in the City League this afternoon at Hilton Park. The Y. M. C. A. and Giants wil line up at 3 o'clock and immediately following this game the Rattlers and Monarchs will try conclusions. There are said to be surprises in store for those who go to the Park this afternoon. It is hoped that the street car company will have consideration enough for the four or five hundred people who still love the game to have ample accommodation.

The FLIRTATION OF ANNE.

By RITA KELLEY.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

The delayed invitation of Janet Fair's house party almost caused a rupture in the Halliwell family, so intense was the scramble to get frocks that matched the shoes, girdles to match the frocks, with sufficient everything into the traveling bags and Anne off to the station for the 4:50 train. At the last minute she snatched from her writing desk a few pages torn from a magazine and stuffed them into her hand bag as she hurried down to the cab. Janet had sent her the story a fortnight ago, and the success or failure of the week end for her depended upon whether or not she waded through it before she reached Brentwood. Janet had set opinions about some things, among them her love for conventional Anne and an overweening desire to provide literature much diversified by commentaries for her best beloved.

Anne made the train. As she hurried down the platform and climbed into the car a feeling of wild good humor possessed her. The old cramping demureness that savored of self consciousness in her personality had been lost in the excitement of the last hour. She found herself within the car with the exhilarating desire to do something rash.

She didn't know what exactly. Then it flashed over her. No more old ladies, or women with children, or nice elderly men. She shuddered at thought of the innumerable times she had asked to share their seats—no. This time she was free from tradition. She would pick a winner! With brave determination she gripped her bags and set out down the aisle in quest of him.

He was at the extreme end of the car. Big and brown, and he looked the part. The little query was said, the alacrious moving of bags ended, and Anne sank into the man's place by the window, facing him, with a tiny feeling of exultation.

He was a winner sure enough, handsome and with the most charming manner imaginable. Anne dubbed him a Harvard man when he lifted his hat. They were all so delightfully gallant. She was not in the least embarrassed by his intermittent gaze, which was timed, as only a winner knows how, to meet her vagrant glances. She knew her hat was immeasurably becoming, with the pink rose and soft plume against her brownish hair; also that her blue fox set was the latest cry in furs and her gloves and boots correct. It occurred to her presently, however, that she ought to convince the man of her complete disinterestedness in choosing him for a traveling companion.

Accordingly she drew the portion of magazine from her hand bag and settled herself comfortably. There were six pages of it, and she knew that, provided she read leisurely, it would last until she reached Brentwood. Janet had a third virtue. She considered, speculating subconsciously, with eyes fixed on the flowing landscape, over a long look which she had just interrupted, were his eyes brown or gray or green? Oh, Janet's virtue! Well, it was providing literature for traveling young ladies who were in danger of reverting without warning to embarrassing original self consciousness.

Janet had scribbled in her bold chirography wherever an interlineation was possible fond, foolish things which Anne soon forgot to read in her absorption in the story. She loved a horse, and this was a hero handled with the sympathetic touch of a lover of horses. Tears sprang to her eyes, to be succeeded by a smile, a low laugh or strained intentness and pain. She finished the story as the train whistled for Brentwood, with an overwhelming desire to lean over and tell the man facing her that it was the greatest story ever written; that she wanted to tell him about it; that she knew he would understand.

Carried outside herself, she leaned forward impulsively, her lips parted, eyes glowing, about to speak. Presto! Her mind sprang like a trap, and she bent over her bags instead, embarrassedly preparing to flee. She gave him the fleetest of glances as she rose, and he looked steadily at her while a suspicion of a smile, appreciative and friendly, came into his eyes. She had the story with her; but, suddenly following an impulse, she dropped it as a thing of no value upon the seat.

Janet Fair was in a state of woe. The lion of the house party had not materialized. Frantic telephoning and wires disclosed the fact that he had left town for Silox, next station beyond Brentwood, on the 4:50 train and had been seen no more. The Fair country place stood midway between the two stations used impartially by the Fair guests, and a coupe had met both stations, one bringing Anne Halliwell from Brentwood, the last woman guest.

"He is yours, dear," said Janet, drawling Anne out into the chill moonlight on the little balcony. "Put this shawl over your shoulders—your gown is so sheer and lovely—and promise me, if he becomes manifest alive or dead, that you will smile upon him."

"Why don't you take him yourself?" laughed Anne.

"Can't. Never sees me. Told me confidentially that he adored the svelte, dreamy girl made of repose and inner reserves, and—I handed him over to you. You'll have to take him bodily, for Gladys Whitcomb has sharpened up her teeth and nails ready to spring and drag him off."

"But, Janet," protested Anne, "I never went in for a man in my life. I couldn't do it. It's so dead common. I'd hate myself."

"I'm a deep eyed villain!" growled Janet, striking an attitude. "You blessed lamb, don't I know your proclivities? Rack your naive brain for a simple and good reason why I sent you a belated invitation, why I expected Aubrey Churchill on the 4:50 train, why"—

"W-was"—

Anne started in consternation, lost her balance against the low railing and was reeling backward when strong arms caught her and set her upon her feet. Then a traveling bag was flung upon the balcony, and, emerging from the shrubbery beneath, a man vaulted beside the girls.

"My lady of the story," he said, smiling whimsically upon Anne, who after one swift look was trying vainly to melt into the shadow, "I have a score to settle with you after I get something to eat. Just look at this saturated brow, will you? It's like a sponge. And these aching arms carried that bag ten miles on an empty stomach."

A terrifying silence followed the click of the window behind Janet's exit. Anne stood on the chilly balcony with the perfect stillness that precedes either attack or precipitate flight, gazing straight into the steady eyes of the man before her.

Then, turning swiftly, she wrestled with the window fastening for an instant and fled. The man, laughing softly, stepped into the library and called, "The tilt after the banquet, remember," as she escaped the room.

He was a young man who would have his way, Anne discomfitedly admitted later. She had been playing fox and geese with him desperately all evening, with the dawning conviction that she was the singular goose. When he cornered her in the dim library as the other guests drifted into the music room she almost gasped surrender.

"Now, Miss Story Lady," he said, thrusting his hands into the pockets of his tuxedo and looking tremendously handsome, with an expression of mock severity on his clean cut face, "why did you do it?"

Anne squirmed preparatory to flight, but he blocked egress from the divan, and she settled back, with a laugh that tried to be trifling.

"It was a great story, wasn't it?" she said irrelevantly.

"Don't you know," he said, dropping down beside her, "that you ought to apologize for causing me to discommode our hostess?"

Embarrassment enveloped Anne. She was groping desperately for that will o' the wisp, her daredevilry, that had got her into this difficulty and refused to extricate her. "W-why didn't you get off?" she stammered, a flush mantling her cheeks. "I did not keep you there."

"But the story did." He smiled insistently upon her as he drew the pages from his pocket.

Anne's heart stopped. She had forgotten the scribblings on the margins when she dropped the story in the car.

"It seems we have a stanch admirer in Janet," he said gently, "and I, for one, quite approve of her. I was deep in a panegyric on your charms and virtues when the train went through Silox."

Anne groaned. She could not help it, knowing, as she did, the extravagance of Janet on paper.

"She has everything arranged," he continued, smiling subtly down at the helpless girl half facing him. "Bridesmaids—think of it—bridesmaids! We didn't either of us know that when we started out this afternoon, did we?"

Anne suddenly buried her face in her hands. He looked at her a moment musingly, then ever so gently extricated her fingers and made her look at him.

"Janet is a clever girl," he drawled. "She said you would have to be taken with a trick."

Anne blinked. Where was her vaunted demureness? "No such thing," she blurted out. "I did it myself. I knew you were a winner."

Had He That?

On one occasion in an English court a prisoner was brought in for sentence who had been convicted of being a common gambler. He appeared in a loud checked yellow and black suit, with red necktie and a large paste diamond horseshoe pin. The judge from under his beetling brows looked fiercely down upon him from the bench and remarked with intense scorn, "I sentence you to pay a fine of $50"—

—"and to three years and six months in state prison," continued his honor, with a slight twinkle in his eye. "Have you got that in your pants pocket?"—Bellman.

Cats.

A cat may pur and pur and be a villain. Once let the cuisine fall below the proper mark, and off goes the ungrateful but shrewd animal to stop with friends who will look after him better. That is the keynote of the feline character, shrewdness. It is the human traits in their characters which make men call cats selfish. The motto of the cat is "Business is business." If a man takes this as his motto and acts up to it, we call him a successful man, and we allow him to write absurd essays on "Hints to Young Lads," and so on, in our papers. But we do not honor the cat.—London Express.

Amphibious Man.

Man becomes almost amphibious in certain regions. Temperature permitting, he swims as well, dives better, than many animals—better, for instance, than any dogs. The Greek sponge fishers and the Arabic divers must have sight almost as keen below water as that of the sea otter. They have even learned by practice to control the consumption of the air supply in their lungs. The usual time for a hippopotamus to remain below water is five minutes. The pearl fisher can remain below two and a half minutes. In a tank a diver has remained under water for four minutes. But temperature marks the limits of man's amphibious habits.—London Spectator.

Would Keep It Down.

The late Bishop Dudley of Kentucky could administer a delicate rebuke, but usually took pains that the point should be obvious. A wealthy but unusually stingy member of his church told him he was going abroad. "I have never been on the ocean," said the old skinflint to the bishop, "and I should like to know something that will keep me from getting seasick." "You might swallow a nickel," responded the bishop.

A Slight Error.

"I was so excited at my first operation that I made a mistake."

"A serious one, sir?" asked a student.

Address

PRESIDENT WINSTON,

West Raleigh, N. C.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—N. C. Baptist: "We are glad to hear from Bro. R. D. Caldwell that Lumberton Baptists have caught in its fullest the church building fever. They are now talking and planing for a $20,000 church building."

—Columbus News: "The board of education at a meeting held here yesterday, recommended that high schools be established at Whiteville and Chadbourn. Petitions to this effect are now being circulated. Provision is made by the new law that the State and county furnish to such schools $250 Pupils from anywhere in the county may attend these schools free of charge."

—Lincolnton, July 25.—Fire yesterday morning burned to the ground the planing mill and cotton ginnery belonging to Messrs. John and Caldwell Motz, entailing a loss of something like $6,000 with not a cent of insurance. In addition to lumber two gins, two 25 horse power engines and a patent dry kiln were consumed. One kiln of lumber belonging to Messrs. Keever & McCorkle.

—Fayetteville Observer: "A striking illustration of the expansion of Fayetteville is the fact that in the course of a few months, within a distance of 200 yards on Old street, there will have been erected buildings to the value of approximately $70,000—the First Baptist and Hay Street Methodist Church the Methodist parsonage, the Carolina Telephone & Telegraph Company building and the H. M. Pemberton white brick store."

—Lumberton Robesonian: "The tobacco warehouse at Fairmont had opening sale on Tuesday. The sale was large, the prices good. Nothing but primings ungraded were offered and prices ranged from 3 to 9 points. There were no offerings of graded tobaccos. Fairmont congratulates herself on having a tobacco market that is thoroughly up-to-date. Col. J. S. Ball added very much to the occasion as auctioneer. He gets the worth of every pile before he quits."

—Southport Herald: "Mr. M. C. Guthrie, who has just returned from a few days visit in the country reports that all crops are in better condition than they have been for some seasons past. The corn crop is especially fine, as is also the cotton crop. On some farms Mr. Guthrie says that three crops have been raised. The good condition of the crops is very gratifying, especially as it was at first thought that the excessive rains had injuried all crops a large percent."

—Newbern, July 25: A distressing accident occurred near here today in the drowning of Bessie, the 7 year old daughter of J. J. Rhodes, captain on a river steamer. Rhodes had taken a family to Wilkinson's Point for a day's outing and they were having a most enjoyable time. The little girl went in wading and stepped in a deep hole and sank immediately. The strong current took her down the stream and it was with considerable difficulty that the body was recovered. The body was in the water an hour and a half.

—Fayetteville Observer: "Mr. Alex. Sessoms of Georgia and New Mexico who has been on a business trip to New York, is in Fayetteville today. In 1869 Mr. Sessoms moved from Stedman, this county, to Georgia, where he resided for thirty years. During that period he accumulated a big fortune in the turpentine business of nearly a million dollars. The past fey years he had been at Las Cruces, New Mexico, whither he went on account of his wife's health. He is now paying a visit to his numerous relatives in Cumberland."

—Southport Herald: "Westly Dortley the little son of Mr. Si Bartley who is in one of the military companies at Fort Caswell came near being drowned last Monday afternoon about five o'clock. Watsy was playing on the Wilmington's dock and in some way fell overboard. No one saw himfall over and it was only the fact of Mr. Willie Guthrie, mate of the steamer Southport happening to see the child floated that prevented him from being drowned. Mr. Guthrie at once went to the rescue of the child and soon had him again on dry land. However it was a very narrow escape as he had gone down for the third time and had it not been for the quick and heroic work of Mr. Guthrie he would undoubtedly have drowned."

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys what that's "in style," but the modern for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, July 26.—While not particularly active during today's trading the cotton market showed considerable nervousness with an easier tendency imparted by better weather reports and liquidation of near crop months. The close was steady at a net decline of 9 to 21 points. Sales were estimated at 300,000 bales.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 6 to 10 points and after some little irregularity the active positions went off to a net decline of about 11 points under easy cables, reports of showers in the eastern belt and the forecast for general showers and cooler weather. At the decline there was considerable covering of shorts, there seemed to be no very aggressive pressure from the leading bears and prices during the middle session rallied a few points from the lowest. Toward the close, however, the market weakened, owing to liquidation of August and September and the close was within two or three points of the lowest with August and September relatively weak. Monday is the first notice day for August contracts but owing to the fact July is maintaining a premium over August and that August is selling at a carrying charge under October, it is predicted that tenders will not be heavy, although it is pointed out that calculation in this direction may be confused by the possibility of a revision of grades during September. Detailed weather reports showed showers ranging from a trace to a little over an inch in eastern sections of the belt but private wires reported continued high temperature in the west.

Cotton receipts at the ports today 894 bales against 1,200 last week and 4,740 last year. For the week 10,000 bales against 10,361 last week and 29,523 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans nothing against 1,126 last year and at Houston 542 bales against 224 last year.

Spot cotton quiet 7 points lower; middling uplands 13.00; middling gulf 13.25; sales 1,500 bales. Futures opened barely steady and closed steady.

BORAH ELOQUENT ASKS CONVICTION

CASE TO JUDGE AND JURY

Charge Will Begin in Noted Case This Morning—Yesterday's Scenes in Trial Most Stirring of Weeks It Has Dragged Along.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, July 26.—Evidence and argument are at end and tomorrow the jury will be left to decide whether William D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners was guilty of participatinon in a criminal conspiracy to assissinate former Governor Frank Steunenberg, who was murdured with a bomb at his home in Caldwell on December 30th, 1905.

United States Senator William E. Borah, engaged by the State of Idaho as special counsel for the prosecution, spoke the last word tonight.

Tomorrow morning Judge Fremont Wood will charge and instruct the jury, which is expected to retire to consider the verdict about 11 o'clock. The crowd seeking admission to the court room tonight broke all records in a murder trial in Idaho. Two hundred persons remained in the grounds when the doors were closed after the morning's session, and hours before they opened again all approaches were blocked. When every inch of space within the court room was filled several hundred stood on the lawn near the windows that they might catch sentences from the impassioned pleading of the young Senator.

Senator Borah laid the foundation for his argument last night. This morning he began an analysis of the evidence, but he confined himself to the murder of Steunenburg and the conspiracy. He linked Orchard to Haywood to Simpkins, Simpkins to Moyer and Moyer to Pettibone. Then selecting only the evidence of witwitnesses, defense and leaving Orchard's confession out, he wove the lives and movements of the five men together. Without departing from the records, incidently clearing up situations left somewhat clouded, he brought these officers and members of the Western Federation of Miners together. Then he took Orchard away from Denver and back to Denver to the headquarters of the Western Federation of Miners. This was done carefully and almost monotonously, the quiet before the storm. Then Borah's voice and manner changed. He sprang into action. His voice quivering, hand upraised, fingers outstretched, he shouted: "Watch them now! Watch the five conspirators! Steunenberg is to die in thirty days and they are moving on the scene."

The dramatic utterance and tense figure of the pleader sent a thrill through the court room. For the space of ten seconds there was silence; then relaxing, Borah continued with his merciless logic. He brought Davis, Copley, Adams and Easterly, all officers or members of the Western Federation of Miners, into touch with Orchard. Without a pause, he drew picture after picture of the men, associating together at various points. From such place and fresh from every crime he brought Orchard back "home to Denver" and then smiling leaned toward the jury to ask:

"Why, why, always back to Denver unless it was there to find the protection and the pay of his employers."

All those things denounced or sneered at by counsel for the defense found a bold and brilliant paragraph of defense in Senator Borah's interludes, and counsel for the defense were driven into a murmur of protest, now under the lash of pointed sarcasm and again when under the fire of indignant reproach culture and christianity, law and order, the home and the country, found a ready champion. The State of Idaho, its people, and its chief executor, each in turn were lauded.

Under it all Haywood was perhaps the one man in the room who showed the least emotion. At times his face flushed, and more than once he paled under the attack of Borah, who reaching the climax of the conspiracies, pointed an accusing finger at the man who he said "was the criminal force behind the Western Federation of Miners."

Senator Borah's peroration was delivered in quiet, almost pleading tones, in strong contrast to the harsher voice in which he spoke of Clarence Darrow's argument of justification. "If," he said, "the State has pointed out to you the men who were concerned in and executed this awful crime, in the name of the manhood and the womanhood of Idaho, do your duty without fear of any man or any favor to any man.

"As I listened to the eloquent voice of counsel in pleading for their clients there came to me the memory of another scene, and another time. I remembered again that night in dark December in 1905, a night that added ten years to the lives of some now here in this room. I felt again the icy chill and faced the drifting sleet and stood again beside the body of my dead friend, whose life blood stained the snow.

"I feel again the disgrace that had come to Idaho. I saw in the murdered man that which meant more than murder, for it meant the first blow that anarchy had aimed at my State, and on that night I said to myself con time unteach the lesson of this hour?"

"Let us then be brave in this supreme moment. If the defendant is innocent, let him go free, but if not, let him take the punishment that the law prescribes. You have a higher duty to perform than ever was asked of a jury in Idaho."

"Some of you men have stoood the test in the past in protection of your homes and your flag, but you have never faced a duty that required a higher courage than now. In every home in Idaho the thoughts of our people are with you, mingling with thoughts of things that made these homes possible, and in every home throughout this broad land, men and women tonight look to you as the brave who stand for right and the flag."

Senator Borah's theme was conspiracy—the essence of the case of the State of Idaho in its effort to show that Harry Orchard was only the tool of Haywood when he killed the former Governor.

"Now, watch this quintet, he cried, triumphantly, having laid his foundation, piece by piece, using only the testimony of witnesses for the defense, picking it out from the mass of mixeded material, he showed the intimacy between Orchard and the highest officers of the Federation.

The argument of the morning centered in Caldwell but the scenes changed rapidly, each flash showing an officer, a friend or a member of the Federation of Miners the confidente and intimate of Harry Orchard.

At the close of Senator Borah's address and the adjournment of court tonight the Senator was surrounded and congratulated by nearly every one in the court room, including counsel for the defease.

GINNERS REPORT UNDER NEW PLAN

TO PREVENT SPECULATION

Hours Will Be So Arranged as to Transmission That Speculators Can't Get Wise—Work of Agents and Their Dates.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, July 26.—The Census Bureau has perfected its arrangements for collecting cotton ginning statistics covering the cotton crop of 1907-08. There will be ten reports, the first appearing September 8th, and the last March 20th. The intermediate dates of publication will be October 2nd, October 25th, November 8th November 21st, December 8th, December 20th, January 9th and January 23rd.

In eac h instance except the condition of the crop about a week before the date of publication. The report of March 20th will deal with the condition on March 1st.

Ast heretofore the agents will be given six days in which to visit the ginners and secure the returns. Summaries of these will be wired to the bureau on the last day of the canvas. On the day following the close of the canvass there telegraphic summaries will be added and the results given to the public. The reports will then be printed and mailed within 24 hours after publication to all ginners and to others interested.

Last season these reports were published at 2 P. M., on the day following the close of the canvass but this season the Bureau will endeavor to publish the results at 10 A. M.

The publication at this hour will permit the results to reach Europe within trading hours on the day that they are published in America. This is in line with the earnest requests of European spinners of American cotton and it is believed that by enabling them to trade on these reports in their own market on the dates of lication, the fluctuations in the price f cotton and the results of speculation in the product on these occasions will be reduced.

Between the hour of 6 P. M., when the agents complete their canvass and make their county summaries for tlegraphing and 10 A. M. of the following morning when the reports are published in Washington no business is transacted on cotton exchanges in this country, and hence under this system Director North says there can be no improper use of he information.

Two of the publication dates, September 8th and December 8th, fall on Sunday and Director North stated this evening that these two dates would be changed.

BESTIAL ATTACKS UPON YOUNG GIRLS

Police Commissioner Bingham Driven to Alarming Explanation Horrible Outrages.

COMMITTED IN NEW YORK

Pitiful Stories of Assault Come to Light and Authorities Seem Impotent to Cope With Situation. Two Recent Instances.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, July 26.—To the series of unpunished crimes against young girls which daily of late has exasperated th police and put parents in the outlying districts in an ugly mood, were added today for investigation the cases of Virginia Barsh, 17 years old, and Annie Falkoweko, a girl of five years. So notorious have become the cases of assault, amounting in two recent instances to murder, that Police Commissioner Bingham has been driven to explain that his army of policemen is insufficient to cope with this particularly species of degeneracy. He has warned fathers and mothers not to allow their little ones to wander aimlessly in the streets.

The Barish girl has been driven insane by inhuman treatment an inkling of which was first given to the public today. She became separated from a party of friends at North Beach Wednesday and that night was rescued by chance from the surf in which she was about to drown herself. She had been beaten black and blue and robbed of her clothing. Driven mad through suffering, she fought her rescuer and only with difficulty was placed in restraint. When her mental condition became apparent the girl was taken to the Kings county hospital. There in a lucid interval she told a pitiful story of assault, many of the details of which were subsequently substantiated. Attacked by a gang of nine roughs, she was left in a state that, to her frenzied mind, suggested only suicide. It is a question whether she can recover.

Little Annie Falkoweko, of Staten Island, went to meet her fatehr and fell in with another man. She suffered a bestial attack, and is under the care of a physician, Joseph Nocwiak, a steamship fireman, 34 years, and whom the child accused, is under arrest.

A third case today cannot be said to be wholly unpunished. When Wennis O'Shea, of Harlem, heard the screams of his infant daughter he did not stop to notify the police, but promptly beat Jacob Neuman, aged 52 years, into unconsciousness. When he came to, Neuman was seized with a fit and was removed to Bellevue hospital, critically ill.

The police records show that during the past thirty days 17 specific complaints of assault upon girls and women have been reported in this city.

A series of cool blooded crimes resimbling the "Jack the Ripper" murders but for the fact that the victims are little girls instead of women, startled Berlin yesterday, almost in the centre of the city a serious of atrocious crimes having been perpetrated. Within a short space of time the assassin enticed three girl badies into doorways and stabbed them in the abdomen with sharp instruments One is dead and two are dying. A suspicious character said to have been seen enticing children with candy was arrested and was almost lynched before the police could get them to the station house.
